This group exhibition curated with Arts & Sciences Projects focuses on artists who include concepts of distribution and circulation in their practice, especially in relationship to the institution of publishing. Participating artists include Benoît Broisat, Sessa Englund, David Horvitz, Farah Khelil + Antoine Lefebvre Editions, Nicole Reber and Paul Soulellis. You might have already caught Reber's "word paintings" at the SPRING/BREAK Art Show. This exhibition promises to both provide a platform for discourse on the future of the publishing industry (and what that question even implies), as well as present work which deals with these issues in both subversive, individual, and experiential ways.
